Between Us

Thursday night the P.T.A. has issued invitations to an old-fashioned party to be held in the high school gymnasium. The plans were to have the parents visit the new recreation center for our young people, but at the last minute plans had to be altered. Mrs. Virgil Agan has arranged a very interesting program of fun for this meeting. — John Waters, of Graymont, is displaying some of his paintings this week at the recreation center. These portraits are of many of our local young people and are certainly worth a visit to see. And, by the way, let me add, if you doubt our young people are enjoying their new center, just drop by some Friday night and see for yourself. Mrs. Linton Lanier is doing a grand job as hostess down there. — Recently the high school held their declamation contest at the court house, and it does not seem at all strange that John F. Brannen Jr. should have come out with one of the best papers. He is a bit more confident of himself as he thought of his grandfather, who for years has been one of the best judges; and now John F. Br. in his father's shoes is doing a grand job. — Mrs. Paul Lewis, U.S.N.R., of Memphis, Tenn., will arrive Tuesday for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Paul Lewis.

Mrs. Percy Averitt and daughter, Jane, who have been spending several weeks with relatives in Hartford, will return home during the week end.

Mrs. T. W. Rowse, Sgt. W. R. Lovett, Miss Betty Lovett, Miss Annette Marsh and Mrs. Catherine Brown were visitors in Augusta during the week.

Seaman and Mrs. Edwin Banks have returned from a visit with relatives in Florida. Seaman Banks will spend the remainder of the week with Mrs. Banks at their home here.

Miss Zula Gammage has returned from Gainesville, where she spent a few days at Brenau with Miss Carmen Cowart. Miss Gammage and Miss Cowart spent the week end in Atlanta.

Mrs. Raymond Nelson and two sons, Alvin and John, visited during the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Blitch. Friends regret to learn that the senior Mr. Blitch is ill at his home here.

Nelson's mother, Mrs. Richard Russell.

PROPER METHOD TO PLOW TOBACCO

Successful Foreman Gives Benefit of His Experience Over Period of Years

It is very foolish to point or plow tobacco the first plowing, according to A. J. Brannen.

Mr. Brannen should know what it takes to grow good tobacco as he has averaged some 1,700 pounds of high-grade tobacco per acre for the past few years.

However, Mr. Brannen is certain that the first two plowings should be to the water and the tobacco. Another point that Mr. Brannen stresses in cultivating tobacco is making certain that the crop is plowed each week, regardless of the weather conditions. He always plows one side at the time and then gets the other side the next week.

Tobacco should be plowed by an experienced hand, this grower thinks. Plants that have been hit with the sweep never fully recover. It only takes a few plants of this kind to reduce the yield.

As for the pointing of tobacco, Mr. Brannen allows, as to how many plants are reduced in Bulloch county each year by this practice. Many farmers take the wings off their turning plows and run the point under the tobacco plants the first plowing. Mr. Brannen says that this is just like setting out a tree and then pulling it up every week to see if it is still living.

PLANNED FUNERAL YEARS IN ADVANCE

Build His Own Coffin and Kept It in Readiness For The Day Of Its Need

When J. I. Fordham was placed away Sunday afternoon, he went into another earth in a coffin which he personally prepared nineteen years ago.

Interment was in the Wilson cemetery, four miles south of Statesboro, Sunday afternoon, with Elder M. V. Spivey and Elder Malle Jones officiating, and Lanier's Mortuary in charge.

Nearing eighty-four years of age, Hiram Kennedy and Mrs. R. M. Salter, of Statesboro; W. W. Fordham, Savannah, and M. W. Fordham, Miami, Fla., and one brother, Chas. Fordham, Metter.

Nearly thirty-seven years ago, Mr. Fordham had been a resident of Bulloch county for more than half century. His personal planning for his burial grew out of an experience about which he told this writer one day last summer. The story was then published in these columns.

He had noted that some friends of his, following the death of the head of the family, were put to some trouble in making arrangements for a burial outfit and found it necessary to call on friends to stand as guarantors for the funeral expense. He said he resolved then to avoid the possibility of such condition to his own family, so he and a carpenter friend, Bob Humphries, constructed a coffin which has since been held in readiness. This was for nineteen years stored in a warehouse of the present Lanier's Mortuary, and its long-awaited need came when he passed quietly away last week end.

Farmers Asking Raise In Flue-Cured Tobacco

T. R. Bryan Jr. represented the Bulloch county farmers at the meeting called by H. L. Wingate, state Bureau president, at Douglas last week. Mr. Bryan also reported that resolutions requesting the ceiling on pulpwood be raised to $16.25 per unit for rough pine f.o.b. the cars and $17.19 for hardwoods. These are the ceilings used in the other pine of the country for pulpwood.

DATE DESIGNATED COLLECT CLOTHING

People of Bulloch County Asked to Unite in This Contribution to Our Allies

The week of April 23 has been designated as the period to assemble clothes in Bulloch county for the National clothing collection campaign.

Community leaders of the Farm Bureau, P.T.A., churches, and other organizations have been asked to work with the schools in collecting the clothes that are usable to people in the other parts of the world who are taking over.

W. G. Cobb, who called the county committee together, outlined that miff clothes, clothes out of style, clothing not needed, all clothes that the wearer has grown tired of, and clothing not otherwise needed is what the collection will be expected to include.

The clothing is to be assembled at the Guards Army during the week of April 23 and will be packed for shipment the first part of the next week. Mr. Cobb stated that clothes needed most are knitted caps, woolen wraps, smocks, socks, shoes, work clothes, underwear, robes, pajamas, sweaters, jackets and shirts.

The various civic clubs and other organizations are working with the schools in this national campaign.

FRESH IRISH POTATOES BROUGHT OWN MESSAGE

A vesselful of new-crop Irish potatoes large as hen eggs and white as ivory, found at the front door of the editor's home a couple of days ago, had no note attached, but there was something about them which revealed the identity of their origin. Imaginary fingerprints told us they had come from the path in the rear of the Mrs. Morgan Mitchell home—that's where so many early choice vegetables grow—and later we had verbal confirmation of our reasoning. A couple of weeks ago it was strawberries, a sprig of parsley and a brilliant japonica. Don't wonder then if the editor seems to show signs of being slightly spoiled by these kind of presents.

Watch next week for new clue. The lady who received last week's tickets was Mrs. Loy Waters. She attended the show Friday evening and phoned later to express appreciation for the entertainment.

Research Committee To Visit Our College

Pvt. Dalton Kennedy Now Connected With 24th General Hospital Near Front Lines

Peninsular Base Headquarters, Italy—Pvt. Dalton E. Kennedy, 113 West Jones avenue, Statesboro, Ga., is now serving here with the 24th General Hospital, which has made an impressive record during a year and a half overseas. It was for a time the nearest general hospital to the Italian front lines.

It is one of the many units in this vast base, important service and supply organizations for Fifth Army and for the ground forces of the U. S. Air Corps and Navy in the Mediterranean theatre of operations.

This hospital was organized at Tulane University, New Orleans, La., and was activated at Fort Benning, Georgia, on July 15, 1942. Nearly all of the medical officers are either graduates of the University or served their internship at the Charity Hospital in New Orleans. This is the second such hospital to have been drawn from Tulane, the first having been organized in September, 1917, during overseas service in France.

The commanding officer of the hospital is Colonel Walter C. Royals, Medical Corps, who is also a graduate of Tulane University and has served in the regular army since 1918.

The present unit shipped overseas in August, 1943, and was stationed near Bizerte, Tunisia, prior to being ordered to Italy in June, 1944. It set up operations in one of the largest and most modern hospital buildings in the country. At that time its rated capacity was 1,000 beds, but the War Department was a 1,500-bed hospital with expansion facilities to 2,250.

Pvt. Dalton E. Kennedy, who is the husband of Mrs. Annie Wilson Kennedy, of 113 West Jones avenue, Statesboro, and the son of E. A. Kennedy Sr., Rt. 5, Statesboro, Ga., has been in the army for twenty-two months. Before entering the military service he was a clerk employed by Brangan Drug Co., West Main street, Statesboro. This hospital was organized at Tulane University, New Orleans, La., and was activated at Fort Benning, Georgia, on July 15, 1942. Nearly all of the medical officers are either graduates of the University or served their internship at the Charity Hospital in New Orleans. This is the second such hospital to have been drawn from Tulane, the first having been organized in September, 1917, during overseas service in France.

The commanding officer of the hospital is Colonel Walter C. Royals, Medical Corps, who is also a graduate of Tulane University and has served in the regular army since 1918.

The present unit shipped overseas in August, 1943, and was stationed near Bizerte, Tunisia, prior to being ordered to Italy in June, 1944. It set up operations in one of the largest and most modern hospital buildings in the country. At that time its rated capacity was 1,000 beds, but the War Department was a 1,500-bed hospital with expansion facilities to 2,250.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear husband and daddy,
G. E. HODGES,
who passed away five years ago today, April 19, 1940.
Gone is the dear one we loved so dear;
He was always faithful and full of cheer.
'Tis sad but true, we wonder why he's quick, so sudden, you had to die.
Oh, how we need you every day—
How we want you every way.
But God, who knoweth all things best,
Crossed your path and gave you rest.
We miss you most who love you best,
May God grant you eternal rest.

"WONDER"

By DOROTHY SALTER
Each kind heart is like a sun
That shines upon the passing crowd.
How sad I feel on selfish days
When I have to live behind a cloud.
I'd like to throw away the clocks
That chop the minutes all our days—
I'd rather tell the time by the meads,
Or sun, or such-like sweeping ways.
We learn from our mistakes, they say,
And I'm a living proof it's true—
Each year I'm nearer perfect in
The wild and foolish things I do.
I always kept thinking, when I was small,
There would come one climax
Greater than all,
But now, as plodding through life
I go,
I begin to wonder if this is so!

INTENSE EFFORTS SELL WAR BONDS

State War Finance Group Will Seek To Encourage
Payroll Savings Plan

Atlanta, April 9. (Special)—The month of April and May will find renewed concentration being applied to the purchase of War Bonds through the payroll savings plan, it was announced by headquarters of the Georgia War Finance Committee.

Jackson P. Dick, chairman of the committee which has supervision of the sale of federal war securities in the state, said that this phase of activity would receive particular attention during the days preceding official opening of the Seventh War Loan.

"Firms in Georgia who are giving their employees opportunity to buy War Bonds through the payroll savings plan are rendering a splendid service both to their employees and their nation," Chairman Dick said.

"A splendid record has been made in this direction in the past, but we believe there are still great possibilities which remain unexplored."

"It is easy in most cases, for a worker to set aside a small sum each week or month for the purpose of bonds, and the cumulative benefits of this plan are really remarkable. It has the advantage, too, of providing a wider distribution of the all-important 'E' Bonds—heart and soul of the war-financing program—and helps to give more and more people an opportunity to buy themselves a share in America."

Mr. Dick pointed out also that such installment purchases begun now would be of material assistance in helping Georgia to make the quota which she will be assigned in the next nationwide bond drive, actual dates for which will soon be announced.

They Smell Salt

SO LONG HAS IT BEEN since there was a youngster in our own home that we often find ourselves feasting upon the memories of trivial incidents in the home life of the long ago.

We wonder if in this modern day, while the family and neighbors visit together in the evening hours, there are ever any boys who fall asleep in the corner and while away peacefully the unimportant gossip? We wonder, too, if there are still boys, who, thus aroused from their slumber, go about in a sort of daze whimpering at imaginary annoyances? Are there still such boys?

And this brings us back to a memory of the long ago. The family had assembled at the home of the grandmother; among the menfolk there was always conversation which ran far into the night. Women grew tired and impatient, and children fell asleep here and there. One sort of sleepy head was Dody Rogers. When the party had broken up and it was time to get under cover, Dody's mother was trying to bring him back to life. With eyes half open, he walked around in a daze, whimpering and scratching. (Wonder why a boy must scratch all over his body when he is half awake?) And he continued to cry with no apparent reason. His mother demanded to know what was the matter, and Dody solemnly gave as his reason, "I smell salt."

Over in the confines of our German friends there has been within recent days a salt-smelling event. Allied forces nearing Berlin came upon a salt mine in which, more than two thousand feet below the surface, the German government has secreted future use masses of its wealth. One hundred tons of gold bullion was in the cache. A hundred tons of gold is a whole of a lot. One printer put into type the statement that it was valued at a hundred billion dollars. Printers do not generally know the difference between billions and millions, for this last-named figure was the copy given him.

But what we started out to say is that all this confusion over the falling German empire there last few days comes from the fact that the heads of that government have been smelling salt. It's enough to make them weep. They are beginning to wake up, but they will continue to weep even as they become wider awake. Dody Rogers quit crying about the salt smelling when he came out of his daze, but old Hitler and Himmler and Goering and their gang will be dazed the balance of their days.

Manly Young Scouts
IF EVER THERE HAS BEEN in our mind a lack of proper appreciation for those manly youngsters who are designated Boy Scouts, we must here ascribe that condition to a lack of opportunity to observe them in action upon their own responsibility. Today we have a higher regard for Boy Scouts than we had two days ago. We have had opportunity to observe and appreciate.

Tuesday was designated paper salvage day for Statesboro, and announcement was made that the Boy Scouts would call at every home where permission was granted and salvage waste paper. You who read those lines last week perhaps forgot them, even as we forgot them.

It was almost dark as we sat at our work, and there gradually came a realization that there was some little excitement in the community. It was the voice of youngsters who seemed to be passing along the streets; but the noises grew nearer and more animated, till right at the back door of our office there was a sudden commotion. A pony attached to a ramshackle wagon had become excited on the street and had run across the front yard of our home, jammed the ramshackle wagon through a partly-open gate, and had become stalled. It was about all this that the voices were being raised. Six or eight youngsters—too small, it would have seemed, to undertake so great a responsibility—were swarming about the run-away and, without direction or outside help, were setting matters straight as speedily as possible. They partly unloaded the wagon and detached the horse from the shafts; took hold of the wagon and hucked it across the yard onto the street, reloaded their precious burden of waste paper, went ahead with their task. It was by that moment so dark that irresponsible youngsters lacking interest would have hurried for home; laboring men would have proclaimed it a day—"time to eat"—but the youngster in charge, after the matter had been set at rights as much as possible, entered the front door of this office and in a voice as soft as music, asked, "Mister, did you have some waste paper you wanted us to take?"

One lad had been knocked down and trampled under foot of the frightened pony, but was not excited. Were any of the boys excited? They surely were not. Neither was the pony, for that matter; while being unhitched from the wagon he ravenously ate the limb from rose bush but he wasn't excited.

We appreciate that pony which came to carry away the waste paper, and we appreciate those manly Scouts who stuck to the job under most adverse circumstances. In just a little while those boys who assembled in our back yard two days ago will be the men of this town. Our town will be in the hands of better men because of the influences which are shaping their lives.

Five Thousand Additional Physical Therapists Are Being Given Opportunity

Scholarships for training in physical therapy under the $1,247,000 program of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are available immediately for classes commencing in June and July, Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation, has announced.

As a result of the increasing use of physical therapy in the treatment of infantile paralysis and other diseases, and because of the acute shortage of trained personnel, the National Foundation is offering these scholarships for nine to twelve months' courses in approved schools of physical therapy. The scholarships will cover tuition and maintenance in accordance with the students' needs. Pointing out that there are only 2,500 qualified physical therapists in the United States, with more than half of them in the armed services, Mr. O'Connor said it would require several years to train the additional thousands of physical therapists needed.

"The postwar possibilities in this field are almost without limit. Physical therapy is a vocation in which there is no over-crowding and the scholarships offer opportunities for professional careers, Mr. O'Connor emphasized. Candidates for National Foundation scholarships must have two years of college, including biology and other basic sciences, or be graduates of accredited schools of nursing or physical education. Applications should be made to The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, 120 Broadway, New York (5), N. Y.

VASTLY DIFFERENT LIFE IN THE NAVY

One Must Learn New Terms For The Ordinary Conveniences Of The Home

Since writing the last item for this paper, it occurred to me that there were a few things that happen aboard a naval vessel that are not in the dictionary (or for that matter, naval code and regulations). We'll skip that last statement and proceed with a more important business at hand.

In the Navy there is no such thing as a wall, a floor or a ceiling. Instead those common things so necessary around the house have a new name in the Navy. The wall is known as a bulkhead, the floor is the deck and the ceiling is the overhead. You don't tie a piece of rope, you secure a piece of line. The hallway at home becomes the Navy's quarterdeck. The dining room is the messing compartment or officers' wardroom. The only things that I can think of offhand that the Navy hasn't changed are chairs, doors and tables. They're still the same except little doors have become hatches.

To give you an idea of shipboard routine, I will give you my own conception of "My Day."

This morning I awoke to the pleasant tone of Dixon's chimes. (He can play reveille and taps now—it makes one feel more like getting up and going to sleep, which is what I do.) I turned on the heat and leisurely dressed to the tune of Ade Lyman's orchestra over the ship's P.A. via Navy indirect lighting, put on a smart black cravat and headed for the wardroom for breakfast. The record player or had on one of Harry James' best recordings and while I ate hot pancakes and bacon I planned my day's activities. This was interrupted by LeRoy, who asked how I wanted my eggs. "Medium well, scrambled, thank you, LeRoy, and that'll be all." After breakfast I read July's copy of Fortune and September's copy of Esquire and censored mail on the wardrobe sofa while waiting for quarters—that's an every day occurrence in the Navy at eight o'clock. The flag is raised and the captain gets a look outside that for the rest of the day. If the executive officer compliments a department, a holiday routine is declared. There are few holiday routines in the Navy.

Just now I'm beginning to wonder why I got up so cheerful this morning and everything looked so nice. I forgot to tell you, I'm on a new ship. Next week it'll be different.

The rest of the day is spent on the bridge, in the wardroom or in the "back." The "back" is a pet name given to inner spring mattresses, a coil line or a hunk of canvas neatly stowed in bilge.

Such is life aboard ship. It varies with the type ship and type duty and in peacetime it is even fun, they tell me. Of course you are liable to be shot at, hit a mine or the ship might just get the notion that it's tired of floating, but that is part of the fun of it all. HARRY ROBERTSON.

REQUIRE GREATER CARE SAVE TIRES

Bus Companies Adopt Inspection Schedule Which Serves Military Needs

Now that civilian tire quotas have been cut again to provide for increased military needs, motorists will be forced to redouble their efforts to stretch mileage. Tire conservation methods of intercity bus lines, as compiled by the National Association of Motor Bus Operators, set a high standard. While most motorists may not be as painstaking as the operators of highway buses, the exacting practices followed provide a valuable check list.

Proper inflation is of prime importance. Before every trip, bus tires are checked on gauges that are calibrated daily. In addition, inflation is checked again at rest stops and terminals. Special attention is given to the replacement of worn valve caps and comes to prevent slow leaks. Because tires containing synthetic rubber develop higher temperatures, the frequent checks also avoid over-inflation resulting from excessive heat.

Every time a bus comes into the garage all tires are inspected to remove stones, glass or nails imbedded in the rubber. The inspector also looks for any indication of rubbing against the body or fenders; any cuts or bruises in the walls or tread; any excessive wear resulting from misalignment of wheels, dragging brakes or brake abuse, and for cracks or breaks in the rims. Front wheels of buses are checked for proper toe-in at least once a week or upon any sign of misalignment. The condition of bushings, bearings, axles, springs, rods and drag links, which may have a bearing on tire wear, are also checked at intervals. Tires are rotated frequently to insure even wear and when they are demounted, rims are cleaned and painted to prevent rust.

These conservation methods have enabled highway buses to obtain an average of 40,000 miles of service per tire and many cases have been reported of tire mileage in excess of 75,000. Even when the active life of a bus tire is ended, it still serves a useful purpose because it contains enough reclaimable rubber to make six 6.00x16 wartime passenger car tires.

Here's Important News That May Make a Big Difference In Your Life

This Effective Tonic Supplies Vital Substances Often Lacking in Diet

ARE you one of those people who are not tickled yet seldom feel your best? Are you frequently tired and so dragged out life hardly seems worth living? Are you inclined to feel irritable, appetite poor? If the reason is that you're not getting enough iron and vitamins B, and G, here's important news.

One of the foremost laboratories of the country has developed a tonic called Purfin for people in such condition. An effective preparation which works on a basic way to help build strength and energy.

First, Purfin is rich in iron. And you know how important it is for your system to get sufficient iron.

Second, Purfin contains the vitamins B, and G. These vitamins help stimulate appetite—aid digestion—promote better assimilation. That's why you eat more and get more good from the foods you eat.

If you are feeling better because your system may lack sufficient iron and vitamins B, and G, do this. Go to your drug store today and ask for Purfin. Take it regularly and see if it doesn't help you feel joyfully alert again. If you do not get a prompt response, consult your physician. A McKesson Product.

.. Nobody's Business ..

(By GEE McGEE, Anderson, S. C.)

A DANGEROUS SURPLUS FUND

The town of flat rock has a surplus of ready cash for the first time in 22 years, according to the town treasurer, Mr. Jim Littleton, a nephew of the mayor. It runs into five figures, viz: 275,255. Itchy palms can be found everywhere in the vicinity of this money. The town owes $80,000 for stuff, but it ain't due yet.

One number of the town council wants to pay each alderman 10¢ per month, another wants to build a nice lilly pool on main street, and still another wants to raise all salaries by 10 percent. Mr. Bert Skinner asked the city fathers why they did not keep it and repair the streets this summer, and he said: "We will let the post-war p.w.a. fix up our streets ansforth."

The poleman says he could use 25¢ per month of this surplus on his small salary, the same having been unchanged since 1935. The mayor thinks best to increase everybody's wages as far as the surplus goes, beginning with his salary first. The city hall needs repairs, but surpluses are not built up for repairs or paying debts.

What to do with all this money is a big question in flat rock, but everybody knows it has got to be dissipated at once in some manner. Political sub-divisions have never been known to keep a surplus longer than a year, according to slim chance ar. the taxpayers are begging that this surplus be held for a rainy day, but the politicians say it ain't even cloudy, and that more money will come in ere long.

IT IS BEING ROOMED AROUND flat rock that miss Jennie veeve smith will be married enduring the coming month of June. She has not said so herself, but she blushes a deep crimson when anybody asks her about same. she changes the subject immediately to spring, soft music and flowers.

It is further rumored that she wears her engagement ring at night, but never in the day-time or out in company. she do not want to get into any mess about her job. her pretended husband is in defense work up north, and he could change his mind up there amongst all of them parkies ansforth.

If she got married, it is going to be a monkey wrench into the machinery of the flat rock schools. she has taught here going on 17 years and she will be sadly as well as badly missed. she is more popular with the male sex than she is with the female gender.

she has not talked with her pasture, rev. will wait, about it, so she waits. she would be willing to perform at the wedding for $5 to $10 but he is not the kind to push himself into the marriage ceremony line-light. he can do the ring service beautifully, and he also has a short-form. if she do become a bride, we wish her many, many returns of the joyful occasion ansforth.
